"NEVER WANTED TO KILL THE CREATURE"

Harry K. Thaw's Own Words on the Shooting—Jerome Rights Admission of Statements as Evidence, but Finally Submits—The Thaw Will Also put in—Provides Fact to Secure Justice for White's Girl Victims.

New York, Feb. 18.—"I never wanted to shoot the creature; I never wanted to kill him; I knew he was a foul creature, destroying the mothers and daughters of America, but I wanted through legal means to bring him to trial. I wanted to get him into court to bring him to justice, but providence took charge of the case. It was an act of providence." This is Harry K. Thaw's own account of the killing of Stanford White. It was given by him to Dr. D. H. Evans, the alienist, last August in the Tomb. Today Dr. Evans repeated the words to the jury which are trying Thaw for the murder of White. District Attorney Jerome fought hard against admitting this statement but today finally gave way. His objections to Thaw's words were withdrawn today and that document was put in as evidence by the court for the defence. Thaw left a considerable amount to be used for securing justice for a number of young girls whom it said he suffered at the hands of White. When Jerome attempted to cross-examine Dr. Evans there was a lively tilt between counsel for the defence and the prosecution. To a statement of Jerome Delmas retorted, "If your privilege not to concede anything, not even common courtesy." Thaw, the jury and everyone in the court room seemed to enjoy the lively cross firing.

BOMBHELL BY ARCHBISHOP LANGEVIN

Claims That Manitoba Schools are as Much French and Catholic as They Were in 1890—Modus Vivendi with the Roblin Government has been Arranged—Inspectors Represent the Archbishop.

Winnipeg, Feb. 18.—A bombshell has been sprung in the local political campaign through an article in Le Cloche de St. Boniface, the official organ of Archbishop Langevin. The article states that a modus vivendi has been arranged between the hierarchy and the Roblin government on the school question of the province. In Notre Dame Des Lourdes school house the crucifix has been placed in two of the class rooms by the archbishop and Le Cloche states that while the modus vivendi at present exists only in the Catholic settlements and not in the cities, where special taxes are collected for the separate schools "our schools in many places remain to a certain extent French and Catholic while being public. The Catholic inspector represents as much the archbishop as the Manitoba Act as the laws of 1890. Honor then to the men who seek to lessen the injustice of the preceding regime."

A NORTHERN TRAGEDY.

Ottawa, Feb. 18.—The Mounted Police department has received a letter from Major Moody, dated 28th, Vancouver, at Fort Churchill, Hudson's Bay, conveying the sad tidings of the death of Assistant Surgeon Walter G. Ford, on the 28th of November. A letter of Major Moody briefly corroborates the story as brought to civilization by Commander B. H. Speck of Surgeon Ford, Major Moody says: "The loss to me personally is very great. I never saw him cast down or out of temper; no discordant or any inconvenience affected him. Everything was taken with a merry laugh and a joke. He worked hard for me in building and always ready to assist any one. His loss will long be felt by all of us." Major Moody says that Surgeon Ford was a first day team driver and was an expert. Had he allowed the dogs to take their own way they would have brought him to camp.

The Redistribution of Saskatchewan and Alberta

Ottawa, Feb. 19.—The committee composed of Messrs. Turfitt, McCready, McIntyre, McCarthy and Lake has been appointed to arrange the constituencies of Alberta and Saskatchewan for the Dominion House. A meeting was held at which the Liberal members submitted a map embodying their views as to the most suitable divisions, and the committee adjourned to permit the opposition members to examine the map and prepare suggestions of objections.

The constituencies proposed, with their population, in Alberta, are: Edmonton, 25,381; Victoria, 25,689; Strathcona, 28,431; Red Deer, 27,806; Calgary, 28,382; McLeod, 24,701; Medicine Hat, 25,883. In Saskatchewan, 30,204; Qu'Appelle, 30,200; Saskatoon, 28,135; Moose Jaw, 28,384; Regina, 29,075; Moose Jaw, 28,384; Saskatchewan, 27,757; Battleford, 17,350; Prince Albert, 28,382; Humboldt, 25,303.

The description of the electoral districts of Alberta as provided for in the draft are approximately as follows:—Edmonton: The southern boundary of the Edmonton district is the Saskatchewan river where it enters the province, to the place east of Edmonton where it is intersected by the dividing line between ranges 26-31, from which point the line runs straight north, forming the eastern boundary of the constituency. Everything to the north and west of these lines is in the Edmonton constituency. Victoria, which adjoins Edmonton on the east, has for its western boundary the range line 26-31, and to river up to the base line 51-56. Thence forming the southern boundary, the line runs east on 51-56 to 13-14, thence south to base line 50-50, east to range 12-13, south to base 65-65, and east to the boundary of the province, thereby including all to the north and east of the line indicated in Victoria. Strathcona has for its northern boundary the southern boundaries of Edmonton and Victoria, and for its southern boundary the 43-44 base line from the B. C. boundary east to range 10-17, thence south to base line 40-41, thence east to the boundary. The Red Deer district has for its northern boundary the south lines of Strathcona and Victoria, for its east and west lines the provincial boundary and for its southern line the township line 32-33, thence extending east across the province from east to west.

Calgary is from the 23-33 township line south along the range line between 23-24 to the base line between 32-22 and thence west to the British Columbia boundary. Medicine Hat: Commencing at the British Columbia boundary, is all south of 23-24 to where it crosses range line 26-31, thence south to base line 19-20, thence east to range 22-22, south to the Red Deer district, thence following the west margin of the reserve to range 27-28, south to base 3-3 west to range 20-20, south to the international boundary.

Medicine Hat is the remaining part of the province, viz. the area bounded on the south by Marlin, on the east by Saskatchewan, on the north by the Red Deer constituency and on the west by Calgary and McLeod constituencies.

FROM DAY TO DAY

WHO IS MY BROTHER?

Who is my brother? Only he Who dwells beneath the same roof-tree.
 Whose blood both only bear the trace Of the same mother, the same race?

Who is my brother? Only he Who in the same sanctuary
 Tell say his prayers as I say mine, mine.
 Believes one creed alone divine?

Or, is my brother every man
 Arched over by the sky's wide span.
 Whose brow by rays or jewels prom-
 sed.
 Or who in humble garb is dressed?

There is but One whom God we call,
 Who is the Father of us all;
 And so all men I brothers claim,
 In our one loving Father's name.

A TRIO OF JOKES.

(Man-Made)

Mark—Taking a wife is something like eating mushrooms.
 Park—How so?
 Mark—You've got to wait until before you can be absolutely sure you have taken the right kind.

"I'm unlucky at cards, but lucky in love," remarked the bachelor.
 "But you are still unmarried," protested the fair widow.
 "Yes," rejoined the advocate of single blessedness, "that's where my good luck comes in."

Deacon—By the way, that man Brown you married a year ago, has he paid you your fee yet?
 Clergyman—No, the last time I reminded him of it he said I'd be fortunate if he didn't sue me for damages.

LUXURY VS. COMFORT.

What scope there is for a quiet London chat with one's own self in the thoughts offered by Mrs. Alex. Tweedie in a recent article upon travel on this continent.

Her remarks were originally made upon life in the United States, but in its course it strikes home to some degree in our own Canadian social life. Mrs. Tweedie is an English woman, widely travelled and broad in her mental view usually.

She says in her own vigorous way that there is "any amount of luxury in the States, but little real comfort. It is a life of fog and champagne, ill-swept rooms and dirty houses. Things are done on a magnificent scale, gorgeous dinner parties and lunches with every possible luxury are common, the people dress superbly, and yet little comforts are often missing; the joy of clean beds is a luxury, there are few libraries to which one can subscribe and see all the latest books for a small sum; newspapers are more filled with horror than news.

And the pretty flowers one is accustomed to in English homes are seldom found, in the first place because they are so expensive that they can only be enjoyed on occasions, and secondly because the housewife has so many more important duties to fulfil that she cannot spend her time in watering and arranging flowers.

Even afternoon tea is still a luxury.

Clean beds a luxury? They are scarcely in Edmonton, Toronto or New York. And it is true about "afternoon tea is a luxury." One oven which considerable fuss is made out to which a dozen or several dozen guests are bid.

It is far otherwise in England and in Halifax with its English ways and in a few homes in other Canadian cities. In these it is one of the most delightful hours of the day—a simple gathering of the home folk with a friend or two perhaps who just "dropped in" sure of a welcome. A domestic hour at which a man is equally welcome with a woman.

Her! What luxury as a hostess and home-maker awaits the women in this strong, developing young country of ours who will introduce this refinement of older countries, which is in its quality of repose even more necessary here, where the strenuous life has all of us in its meshes.

Picture it! The first essential—a home-like room easily furnished as an English parlor, a new-world living room or den; open fire in winter; wide open windows or veranda in summer and comfortable chairs in ways. For hostess, one cherry, refined and sympathetic—never mind her dress!

And for occasional guests, apart from members of her own family, there would be men freed from office-work at five o'clock, tired from a day's work, a school girl just at the age when a gracious set from her elders is treasured in her heart, turned over and enjoyed again—any lounge or woman on her hot of fresh who craves a real home, a glimpse of real homelife and

Total population of three provinces, 1906, 806,863; in 1901, 419,512. The three provinces fell 30,161 short of doubling their aggregate population in the five years. The general increase throughout the three provinces amounted to about 90 per cent., a record rarely which should excite gratification in every Canadian who desires the advancement of his country, and particularly of those who have staked their fortunes on the settlement and development of the western country.

Saskatchewan led in the numerical increase, Alberta came second, with Manitoba a close third. The population of Saskatchewan increased 116,464 in the five years; that of Alberta 112,300; and that of Manitoba 110,477.

The average annual increase for the five years figures out: Saskatchewan 35,296, Alberta 22,476, Manitoba 22,686.

Saskatchewan leads also in the percentage increase, and for the five years Saskatchewan's population increased 180 per cent., that of Alberta 151 per cent., and that of Manitoba 43 per cent.

The average annual percentage increase on the populations of 1901 were: Saskatchewan 36 per cent., Alberta 30 per cent., and Manitoba 8 per cent.

While Alberta does not lead the other provinces either in numerical or percentage increase, she obtained first place in each—a position which should bring very great satisfaction to the people of that province. While Saskatchewan lead Alberta very strongly in numerical increase, and also in the percentage gain, Alberta secured a greater number of newcomers than Manitoba and in the percentage increase of population hopelessly distanced that province. Of the settlers who make their homes in Alberta coming from Eastern Canada, the United States and Europe, nearly seventy per cent traverse the province of Saskatchewan and fully fifty per cent. traversing both Manitoba and Saskatchewan en route to Alberta. The natural tendency of immigrants is to go no farther afield than necessary to obtain suitable land located reasonably near railway facilities. Manitoba, though much smaller in area, contains many times the railway mileage of Alberta, and is situated a thousand miles nearer the European wheat and cattle market. Saskatchewan contains a larger area and double the railway mileage of Alberta and is located seven hundred miles nearer the export market. The wonder is that, handicapped both by distance and the lack of railway facilities, Alberta should secure actually a greater number of settlers than Manitoba and within a per cent. as high a degree of population as the latter province of Saskatchewan.

That she does so is ample assurance that the resources of Alberta are quite as well known and at least as favorably regarded abroad as those of Manitoba and Saskatchewan. And it with only half the province available for settlement and this supplied by not more than one-tenth the railway mileage reasonably necessary to its development, Alberta makes no good a showing it surely is not over-reaching optimism to suggest that when the railway facilities are made adequate to her needs and the northern half of the province is brought into connection with the markets of the world the rush to that province will break all Canadian records for the settlement of agricultural territory.

A RE-CONSTRUCTION FORECAST

The Ottawa Free Press published a few days ago a Toronto despatch setting forth an alleged reconstruction program now under way for the re-organization of the Conservative party in Canada. Mr. Hugh Graham, of the Montreal Star, for many years the prevailing genius of the opposition militant, is credited with being the stage manager in this changing scene. His program is said to comprise:

"The retirement of R. L. Borden from the opposition leadership to accept a position as consulting counsel to the Canadian Pacific Railway company."

"The selection of Hon. J. P. Whitney, now premier of Ontario, as Conservative leader in the house of commons."

"The return of T. Chase Casgrain, ex M.P., to active politics as the leader of the party in Quebec."

"The removal of Hon. F.W.G. Haultain from the provincial field in Saskatchewan to be western leader of the party."

"And, if it be possible, an alliance with Hon. Richard McBride, by which the premier of British Columbia shall hold himself in readiness to become a member of the federal cabinet if or when the Conservatives come into power."

The usual denials have been forthcoming, but they have been neither of a nature nor from a source to allay the suspicion that there may be an Ethiopian in the wood pile. If so the talk of Mr. Graham is not likely to be lessened by the assertion of the Toronto World that there be those who consider Mr. Graham the evil genius of the party, whose organization is in his hands, a statement which may have been prompted by the circumstance that the suggested reconstruction takes no cognizance of Mr. W. F. Maclean, M.P., of South York.

Canadian Club on Intercourse, Cordiale

Patrimony and the Law of Races as They Affect the English and French in Canada—French Canadians a Safety Valve for the Possibilities of Uprightness and Independence.

One of the finest addresses that it has been the fortune of an Edmonton audience to hear was given recently at the meeting of the Canadian Club, held at the Hotel Macdonald, on the subject of Patrimony. The speaker, Mr. J. H. Macdonald, gave evidence of careful preparation, a keen knowledge of political history and a mature judgment. Mr. Macdonald, in his address, pointed out that it was with some pleasure that he accepted the invitation to address the Canadian Club, although he admitted that at first he was a little at sea, finding himself both puzzled and interested at the title of the address.

Considering the aim of the Club, and knowing that the aim was the development of Canadian patriotism, he wondered as to what was the cause of the creation of such a club all over Canada. Glancing at the different nations nearer to us, either by the sea that bind us to them, or by their geographical proximity, he found that the English Club in England, the Scotch Club in Scotland, the Irish Club in Ireland, no French Club in France, and no American Club in the United States, having for its aim the development of patriotism.

Patrimony, the love of one's country. In practice, the love of one's country is the application of one's heart and mind to the moral, intellectual and material development of one's country. In the history of the world, we cannot find a single nation that has thought it necessary to create a club to develop its patriotism. It is that Canadian have felt that their country must exist as a state in the world that does not exist elsewhere. It is because the Canadian nation is composed of two races, whose language and customs are different.

This country was founded by France, who for more than a century sent to Canada the best of her people with a view of civilizing the aborigines. In 1763, there was in Canada a population of 60,000. This fortune of war made of this population a British population, a British population, a British population, having its own religion, its own customs.

England understood that race, just as much as you, were the creation of God. It is because England understood the great law that governs human nature, that she was able to create a great policy of the French-Canadian race, and to make it a part of the American Revolution, and in 1812, at the time of the war, even England and the United States, the French-Canadian proved their loyalty to England by fighting in the war.

It is well-known that the French-Canadian race is not only a part of the American race, but it is a part of the British race. MEDICINE HAT SIGNS PLAYERS Gets Some Virginia Late League Stars—Uniforms Will be Light Grey With Red Trimmings—Team Meets in April.

Times: George P. Neustheimer, manager for the Medicine Hat team, is busy getting his players collected. He writes that he has been looking over the local talent and has landed a number of players from the Virginia late league, lots of experience and ability, and has secured the services of several Southern leaguers. He is pleased with the raw men he has secured, and after putting them through the practice of the fine points of play the city will have a club that knows the game and is capable of playing it. He says: "I note by newspapers that some managers are doing and feel that they have no hunch on me, as the city of Cincinnati turns out more real ball players than any other city in the United States."

That the trimmings of the light grey has secured the following Virginia late league stars: Frank Ritchie, Henry, Lefty Hallis, Berwick, White, and other good players who will make things hum in the Western Canada league.

The local executive of the baseball club met the other night and decided that the trimmings of the light grey suits which the boys are to wear, will be red in color.

Arrangements are in progress for the engagements of John Channing, Cincinnati, as business manager of the baseball team. Mr. Channing is a former player of the major league and has had the experience which would make him an ideal manager for this most extensive position. If he is engaged he will be sent a lot of literature, for publicity and during the work with the team before it comes to Medicine Hat. He will be able to give the city some great advertising across the border.

The team will meet in Cincinnati at the beginning of April and will play games in the South, where it will work its way home, arriving here about May 15.

BASEBALL.
Corner lot aggregations commenced practicing at Calgary last week.

The Rules Committee of the two big league meets at New York on February 25.

The salary limit in the Northern Copper Country league this year is $1,100.

Catcher Driscoll who is signed with Calgary, claims to have hit 16 put outs and two assists in a game last year.

Calgary will need to carry a big lot of them all with the willow of the bunch so far signed by Calgary. He played 141 in 1906, and batted .341.

Over $10,000 stock has been sold in the Medicine Hat Club. The next move is to secure grounds and fit them up for the season.

According to the Calgary papers Manager Thorne has not signed a player whose 1906 batting average was much below .300.

Whitely, the Tacoma second base man signed by Calgary, claims a batting average of .311 last year, and a fielding representation of .913 last year and .910 this year.

The booking of Wheeler will make a hustler for the shortstop job. The Taylor, of Ottawa, wants to play the position as well as Wheeler, but it is said looks to have the call for the job.

McCauley, the south-west Manager White has been anxious about, has sent along his contract, and is pleased to have the chance of rejoining with the leading team in the Western League.

Manager White is confident he has booked the fastest shortstop who will be seen in the West this year in the person of Gus Weaver, who came to town yesterday. He was with Ogden, last year. He was a first class fielder, and exceptionally fast on the bases. John Herwig, well known to local fans, give Weaver a special recommendation.

Manager White made no mistake in signing Fletcher Crist. He has been with Calgary for a couple of years and has been a first class utility player. He has been a ball since he got into fast company. He always has a good display of curves on tap, and can give more of them.

I AM THYNE
I am Thyne, O. Calgary.
I have heard thy voice, and I told thy love for me.

I know thy love is the arms of the wind, and be close drawn to thee.
"Consideration" is the new to my service, (Thyne).

By the power of grace divine:
Let thy soul look up to a steadfast hope.

And thy will be lost in Thyne.
"Draw me nearer, nearer, blower wind,
To the gods which have hand and feet;
Draw me nearer, nearer, blower wind,
To thy precious moment side."—Calgary Herald.

Edmonton extends its kindest sympathy to Calgary fans. If this May-like atmosphere inspires rhyme like the above, what will the July dog days produce.

BASEBALL WAR ON THE COAST

Vancouver, B. C., Feb. 18.—War to the bitter end is being waged here without capitulation in the baseball situation in the Pacific Coast.

Harassed by the prospects of the Northwestern league securing the Pacific Coast territory which the Pacific Coast league is inclined to regard as its personal property, Judge W. W. McCreedy, acting president of the Pacific Coast league declared that the minor league Northwestern league goes out of the Pacific Coast league.

McCreedy would open the door, and there would then be four northern coast league teams and four southern coast league teams in the 1908 makeup, he says.

From McCreedy's remarks it may be set down as a foregone conclusion that the Pacific Coast league does not intend to surrender its territory at Seattle, and will place a team there to operate it. Further than this McCreedy declares that since he has been raised in San Francisco to open the fight in Seattle, he declares also that he has worked out a coast league schedule with Vancouver and the northern league, and he is surprised to see how easy it is.

If Seattle people want to back away from the coast league first-class ball, then I am willing to trade Spokane for Seattle.

This last statement resembles something a while from McCreedy, but that fact does not take away from the situation as it stands today.

Indications point up to a fairly primitive before the National Board, which will surely be called upon by the representatives of the minor league as well as the major league.

President Lucas of the Northwestern league even will make an attempt to enter and operate at Seattle. However, there is one thing that the coast league is not for. One other thing is certain. Two leagues cannot operate in the same territory without one of them becoming an outlaw.

From McCreedy's statements it is apparent that he believes McCreedy has it for granted that the Northwestern league intend to go through with what they claim they will do.

"The Seattle people want to back away from the coast league first-class ball, then I am willing to trade Spokane for Seattle."

"If the Pacific Coast league intend to open operating in Seattle, would you be willing to go out?" weakens.

"There is no reason for creating bridges before you come to them. Local baseball has given me credit, matter and I have been here. I wouldn't like to work under different circumstances."

"I don't believe the Pacific Coast league intend hitting its head up against a stone wall. The league has all kinds of money last year, and it is not likely that they are hunting for more chances to bury their wealth."

As the situation now stands it is up to either one or other of the leagues to back out of the Seattle territory. Lucas says the Northwestern league will stand pat, and McCreedy says the Pacific Coast league will fight its way through with a big bunch of money. Not only that, but that the Coast League will invade Bellingham and Vancouver to my nothing of Tacoma, Spokane and Butte. If this is the case, it is further that someone's money is in the air, for it is not likely that the league mentioned cannot possibly be expected to hold up two clubs each.
